

UPP Update

Last week, OANUE representatives had a conference call with Gale Rubenstein, Chair of the UPP Board of Trustees, to be updated on the status of the UPP.

Ms. Rubenstein indicated that despite the COVID-19 pandemic, the Board continues to meet virtually and is still tracking to meet the July 1, 2021 date for inception of the plan. Although the search for a plan CEO is temporarily suspended, it is ready to launch when conditions become more favourable.

In the meantime, the Board is receiving interim assistance from Barbara Zvan, former Chief Risk and Strategy Officer at the Ontario Teacher's Pension Plan as they continue to develop the infrastructure that will support the plan and its members going forward.

Stay tuned for further periodic updates as the UPP Board of Trustees continues its work.

OANUE wishes you all good health during these challenging times.
